

Title: Resilience in parents of young children with disabilities: contributing factors and supports.
Institution	RMIT University, Division of Health Sciences and Psychology.
Researchers	Michelle Jennings (PhD Student), Dr. Susana Gavidia-Payne
Contact Details	Dr. Susana Gavidia-Payne: 9925 7393 Michelle Jennings: michelle.jennings@villamaria.com.au 0418 658 741
Outline of Research	What is the project about? What are the questions being addressed? The aim of the study is to examine resilience in families of young children (0-6 years) with disabilities, and explore families' coping and stress experiences. What will I be required to do? As part of study 1, you will be asked to complete a questionnaire booklet that will take approximately 30 minutes. You will be given a package of materials containing a consent form and a letter outlining the purpose of the study. You will be asked to return the consent form, with the questionnaire, advising that you agree to participate in the study. At a later date you may be invited to attend a support group as part of study 2, participation in the group would be completely voluntary.
Findings to date	Currently at stage of collecting data for analysis.
Expected start and finish dates	Commenced distributing questionnaires October 2006. Expected project to be completed November 2008.